McGILL SWIMMING TEAM MAKES SPLENDID SHOWING AGAINST NEW YORK CLUB

RED AND WHITE LOSES BY NARROW MARGIN IN FIRST MEET OF SCHEDULE---HODGSON IN- DIVIDUAL STAR OF THE CONTEST

LATE SPECIAL TO MCGILL DAILY, MONTREAL.

New York, Jan. 23.—The swimming meet to-night between the N.Y. A.C. and McGill University at the Club House of the former was a great success. Local sporting authorities were astonished at the remarkable showing of the Canadian collegians all of whom are apparently very young. A large crowd assembled at an early hour to see the first international aquatic meet of the season.

The events were all evenly contested, and final result being in doubt until the last event was decided.

In the fifty yards Draper, of McGill had a fairly easy win with South (N.Y.) second and Ash (N.Y.) third. The time 28 4-5 secs. has been beaten by 3 secs. in practices by Draper.

The hundred yards developed into a see-saw struggle with Hodgson of McGill to the fore until within a yard of the finish when Nerich of N.Y. nosed out a win by a fraction of an inch. Time: 1 min. and 1 sec. Manley of N.Y. finished third. Hodgson has done 59 secs.

The two hundred and twenty yards went to Hodgson of McGill after an exciting race. Hodgson remained back until the last twenty yards when he came ahead with a great burst of speed. Time 2:33 4-5. Reilly and Goodwin of N.Y. finished second and third.

The long plunge was won by Reilly of N.Y. with a distance of 60 yards. Stavert of McGill was second with 55 yards.

N. Y. won the meet by landing first and second in the fancy diving. Draper of McGill being in third place. McAleeman and Mullen who took the first two places in this event have world-wide reps. Stavert did 64 feet at last year's McGill meet.

The final score was 33-20 in favor of the home team which had a big advantage in a larger entry list which permitted more division of events.

When it is considered that the McGill men have bettered all the marks in practice it will be seen what a difference a strange tank makes on average showing.

The Daily Northwestern issues a frantic appeal for reporters in last week's issue. The appeal, if answered, would result in a better paper, as only six or seven men do all the work now.

McGILL JUNIORS PLAY CREDITABLY AGAINST LOYOLA

Lose by One Goal After Plucky Fight—Practise
and Condition Needed

McGill Juniors played their first game in the Junior C.A.H.L. on Monday night against Loyola College at the Arena.

Considering that McGill have not had a practice together as yet, they played a very good game. There was no combination and the players were not in the best of condition. Loyola have practiced a good deal and were in very good condition. They are a fast team and will have to be watched.

The play started fast, the puck travelling from end to end; but there is no attempt at combination. Sanderson checks a little too hard to suit the officials and is put off for three minutes. Loyola begins to rush things and Hall is kept busy but stops everything. He is cool, almost too cool. Darling is put off for three minutes for slashing. Game gets ragged again and Delaney takes puck full length of rink and scores from close in, giving Hall no chance to stop. Stewart and Williamson doing well but former could do better if he had his own skates. Sanderson seems unable to keep his feet. Brady, cover point of Loyola, is very good, being both fast and a very pretty stick-handler.

First half ends. Score: 1-0 in favor of Loyola.

Both teams start the second half at a fast pace. Loyola playing combination and McGill all individual. De Muth is penalized for charging. Clement of Loyola makes nice end to end rush and scores in four minutes. Score 2-0 for Loyola.

This seems to waken McGill up and Williamson scores on a nice side shot in seven minutes. Graham goes off for heavy checking. Both teams crowding together. In mix-up at McGill goal puck goes in off Sanderson. Score 3-1 for Loyola. McGill now rushing things and Graham goes off for body-checking. Loyola playing a defence game but they can't keep McGill out. Darling and Graham make combined attack and latter scores. Score 3-2 for Loyola. Only a minute left to play. McGill playing hard but

SOME SAD STORYA PATHETIC LITTLE TALE FROM KINGSTON

WHEREIN YE VERDANT FRESHMAN TAKES A TRIP BUT FAILS TO CAPTURE YE WILDE GOOSE.

Evidently the verdant freshman is the same the world over. The Queens "Journal" has a good one about one of the yearlings of the Limestone City College who took a pleasant little trip at the expense of his classmates. The sad little tale runs as follows:

"Rather a good story is being told around the University at the expense of Arts '15.

"It seems that one day last autumn Mr. W. P. J. O'Meara, the august president of that brilliant year, received a letter from Montreal stating that a meeting was to be held there at an early date to discuss a style of student gown. The letter, in due course was read at one of the year meetings, and the president was deputed to represent his class.

"On arriving in Montreal he took a cab to the address given, full of ideas about student gowns and conning over the speech with which he hoped to win the plaudits of the gathering. His surprise and chagrin may well be imagined when he found himself dumped at a fourth class hotel on the outskirts of the city, with no sign of a committee. He suddenly awoke to the fact that he had been the victim of a well-planned hoax. Needless to say his report before the year on his return was short and to the point. It was decided to hush the matter up, but some one could not stand the pressure so blurted out the whole tale.

"The letter was signed by one 'Munro.' On investigation there proved to be no one of this name registered at McGill. Rumour has it that 'Sci. '16' were the investigators and if so they are certainly not as much asleep as they look.

"Arts '15 have learned a lesson they will not soon forget, and the extra levy of 25c. each to defray the expenses of the jaunt, which were $12.50, will only serve to drive the lesson home.

McGILL JUNIORS

the Loyola defense is too much and game ends with score Loyola 3, McGill 2.

McGill has very good material but the men need practice together. De Muth and Sanderson were not sure on their skates and the former does not play his position but wanders all over the ice. When checking back the McGill men get on the outside instead of inside their covers and their checking is not as effective as it might be. Darling and Graham played well in centre ice and only needs to get into condition.

Graham needs to put a little more life in his game, he is like a "man of moods," Stewart and Sanderson when they get playing together will make a very good defense. Hall, in goal, is too cool, but he made some nice stops.

The line-up:

Hall	Goal
Stewart	Point
Sanderson	C. Point
Graham	Rover
Darling	Centre
Williamson	R. Wing
De Muth	L. Wing

Umpires—Davies and Cramer.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTESDARTMOUTH

Three unique prizes are offered to Dartmouth undergraduates who have acquired the greatest physical development during the academic year. An eligibility condition is imposed, excluding all those who have not attained 65 per cent. in their studies. Measurements are taken in the early part of the year, and again in May. The men are allowed to train in whatever way they please, and the students showing the greatest gains are awarded the prizes.

Dartmouth has just announced that it will have no gymnasium team which will compete with other colleges this year. It is the intention of the physical director, however, to form a team which will give an exhibition at the closing of the gymnasium exercises in the spring. At present there are about twenty men from the four classes doing good work on the apparatus, but it is not considered worth while to arrange meets with outside institutions. It is expected that these men will form a good nucleus upon which to build a team next year, capable of competing with other colleges.

CORNELL

Not satisfied with the interest that is being shown in hockey at Cornell, Coach Talbot Hunter intends to organize a Freshman team and several scrub teams to help develop the "arsity" and with this end in view he has called out all Freshmen interested. A team is to be picked as soon as possible and practice will be held regularly with the Varsity and scrub. The coach says that all will be given a chance to show their ability at stick work and desires as many to come out as possible. Two rinks have been built on Beebe Lake which will put an end to the lack of practice which the small amount of ice this year has caused.

All candidates for the University baseball team and the battery candidates for the Freshman team will meet next Tuesday and have the preliminary work of the season outlined to them.

Both University and Freshman battery candidates will have daily work on the chestweights from January 25 to February 12, when regular practice in the baseball cage will commence.

VIRGINIA

Among the men entering the University since Christmas is one who may prove a valuable addition to the Virginia track team. This is a man named Caghart, who brings with him records for cross-country running and also boxing. He won the 20-mile marathon race held in connection with the Olympic games in France a few months ago. He has come to stay in America after a long sojourn in France. If he proves the distance runner he is said to be, he will readily find a place on the track team and help considerably in this line.

YALE

The Yale crew management has decided to have no early season races prior to the contest with Harvard. Their course has been greatly criticized by the undergraduate body, but in defense of it they have given the following arguments. First, the course over which the race would have to be rowed at New Haven is only about five-eighths of a mile long, dotted by oyster stakes and cut up by the swells from the frequent passing tugs. To send the crew out of town would take a prohibitive length of time and would necessitate an expense out of proportion to the benefit secured. Tak-

ANOTHER CHAMPIONSHIP IN SIGHT

The McGill hockey team is steadily moving towards the much-coveted title of Canadian Intercollegiate Champions. Thus far the season has been a repetition of brilliant victories. The three games in the States were comparatively easy prizes for the Red and White. Then followed the games with Queen's and Toronto. Hard fought as these last two undoubtedly were, still there was no small margin of superiority displayed by McGill. In a rather loose game Queen's lost on the Arena; on splendid ice but in a small rink Toronto were vanquished in a whirlwind struggle. The season is half over. What will happen in the remaining two remaining games? The solution of this question depends to a considerable extent on the outcome of the game on Friday between Queen's and Toronto at Kingston. We shall then be able to judge of the comparative strength of the other teams in the division.

For the present the outlook is excellent. With judicious practising McGill should continue to improve. The exhibition games with Laval and Harvard should keep the men in shape and prevent over-confidence. However sure we may be of playing first class hockey it will be suicidal "to rest on our oars." The hockey men all realize the force of this argument and are acting accordingly. STICK TO IT, YOU HOCKEY STALWARTS, OLD MCGILL IS RIGHT BEHIND YOU AND YOUR GREAT WORK IS BEING GENUINELY APPRECIATED!

EDITORIAL NOTE.

The swimming team has made a very creditable start by holding down the N. Y. A. C. to such a narrow win as in last night's meet. Columbia is scheduled for tonight, Yale and Boston follow on successive evenings so that our plucky little aggregation has its work cut out in real earnest. Here's wishing McGill's swimmers the best of luck for their remaining games!

ANNOUNCEMENTSINTERMEDIATE FOOTBALL TEAM

The II. Team football picture will be taken to-morrow at 1.30 p.m. at Notman's Studio, Birks' Building. The following men are requested to turn up with uniforms and specifically a regulation McGill Jersey:—O'Brien, Bull, Gallagher, Templeton, Reid, Duckson, Gold, Tingling, Pennock, Duclos, McLeod, N. Williamson, D. Williamson, Gilmore, Craig and Kendall.

By Order,

W. T. MAY, Capt.

The Juniors will practice on the Campus Rink to-night between seven and eight o'clock. It is absolutely necessary for all the Junior hockey squad to be on hand as the practice to-night will mean a great deal. A long and arduous schedule of league games has been arranged. If McGill is to make a good showing in this league the team MUST PRACTICE AND PRACTICE CONSISTENTLY.

FRATERNITIES PLEASE NOTE! All inserts for the 1915 Annual must be in by Friday at the latest. Unless the board receives inserts and lists by that date it will be impossible to include them in the Annual.

By Order,
 T. M. MORROW, Editor.

Senior hockey practice to-day at the Arena between 2 and 3. All members of the Senior squad must be out.

PHYSICAL SOCIETY.

There will be a meeting of the Physical Society at 4 p.m. on Wednesday, Jan. 24th in the Physics Building. "Dynamics of a Golf Ball" by Dr. A. S. Eve. All interested are invited to attend.

ing the coach and crew away from the college would mean to stop in the general work of the squad of from one to three weeks, and a break in the routine work at the most crucial time.

The critics point out that the team will not be given experience in the excitement as well as the mental and physical strain of a race, and the defects in the system of training and personnel could not be easily detected without outside contests, but in spite of these objections the coaches have decided that the Harvard race is to be the first of the season.

It has just been announced that Henry S. Brooks, of the class of 1895 and G. E. Parks of 1904 have been appointed as members of an advisory board for Yale track athletics.

This action puts track athletics on the same footing as the football and basketball teams and the crew. It is expected that other members of the board will be appointed later.

Indiana is conducting a straw vote for the next national president.

As a result of the organization of a swimming team at Annapolis, there are less than one hundred midshipmen who do not take part in some kind of organized sport.

ARTS THEOLOGUE LAMENTS DECISION TO ABOLISH WINES

Student Believes Total Abstinence to be Form of Intemperance

201 University Street.

The Editor,

McGill Daily.

Dear Sir:—As being an Arts student proper and at the same time a member of an affiliated Theological College, I would feel very indignant to be identified with some of the apparently narrow views that have been expressed with reference to a "wet" dinner. I have in the past been a teetotaler and have always been interested in temperance reform; but am firmly opposed to the principles of prohibition, which have unfortunately permeated the minds of many would-be temperance reformers. It seems to me that such intemperate methods for bringing about temperance reform is not only a reflection upon the liberty of British people, but is bound to result in a reaction, so that the last state will be worse than the first. Compulsory total abstinence will not improve, or add moral force to, the character of anyone, even if it were practicable. The very contrary nature of man rebels against such restraints, and fosters in him the very desire for that which others are trying to keep out of his reach. I have lived in prohibition towns in Western Canada, which do not only fail to effect the elimination of drunkenness, but in cases have been known to increase it, since few communities or even individuals care to put into effect laws which menace that personal liberty so sacred to all Britons.

If prohibition is the remedy for intemperance, it is peculiar that if the same principles were applied to other harmful contingencies they would become farcical. Eliminate the sale of arms or poison and you will do away with suicides and murders. Prohibit bathing and there will be no drowning accidents. Such and many other absurd inferences could be drawn from such principles which seem to have influenced the minds of many who voted against a "wet" dinner on Tuesday last.

It has been said that many a freshman gets his first taste of liquor at such a banquet, and it sows the fruits of drunkenness in his life. Well, the probabilities are that a similar opportunity is bound to come to him sooner or later, and he might just as well practice any necessary self-restraint during his college career than at any other time.

Again it has been said that the Arts Undergraduate dinners in the past have been a disgrace, owing to students getting so helplessly drunk as to sink below the surface of the table. I am not in a position to corroborate this; but I would like to believe that it is a gross exaggeration. Supposing it were true; are we to wipe out our reputation by saying that the McGill Arts Undergraduate Society are so lacking in dignity and self-respect that they are not fit to have wine upon the table at their banquets? Prohibition will not wipe out such a stigma, but future "dry" dinners will ever be a reminder of the fact that our Arts Undergraduate Society have had such little self-respect and common decency that its members could not behave themselves when wine was on the menu. Let us rather wipe out these false impressions of your powers of self-restraint, let us show our respect for old traditions and old customs by at all events having wine upon the table, without which no banquet is complete, even if not a student touches it. If there happened to be any individual student who had such little self-respect or respect for the society in which he was in as to get drunk, and it became a custom to have such individuals severely dealt with, I believe we would soon put a stop to any possible indecency. When "wet" dinners are denounced as inconsistent with Christian principles, I believe we are overstepping the mark. We are showing inhospitality towards those who differ from us; we are trying to inculcate Christian principles into others by force rather than by the gentler and more efficacious method of moral persuasion. We are so eaten up by our own zeal that we sometimes try to blind people where Christ and His Apostles looked them.

Yours faithfully,
 E. F. L. HENSON,

FRITZI SCHEFF RECEIVES OVATION FROM MCGILL MEN

CREDITABLE PERFORMANCE IN-DUCES STUDENTS TO PAY
STAR A TRIBUTE.

A representative body of McGill men turned out on Monday night to see the old McGill favorite, Fritz Scheff, in her first appearance here in Johann Strauss' opera, "Night Birds" at the Princess Theatre. Although the play itself was poor, the music was gold, and the principals carrying their work through successfully enough to afford a nice evening's entertainment. Mrs. Scheff herself was at her best. She sang and danced her way into the hearts of the audience and especially into the hearts of the students present, so much so that they waited for her in front of the theatre after the show. When they saw her coming, they lined up on both sides of the passage and greeted her with a hearty McGill cheer. As soon as she was seated in her sleigh, the horse was unhitched and some of the boys pulling at the shafts, some at the side, others pushing from behind, the lady was escorted to the Windsor. She then got out of the sleigh, thanked the boys and very neatly "gave them the slip." The boys then lined up, and a snake danced through the tea-room, dining-room and rotunda of the hotel and dispersed.

A word now about Mrs. Scheff's support in "Night Birds." Miss Hazel Cox as Rosalinde von Eisenstein shared honours with the star. She has a remarkably mellow voice and an artistic way of using it. Morgan Williams as Dr. Falke had little to do, but what he did do stood out. He has a voice of a peculiar sweet timbre, which he used to good advantage. The comedy was supplied by Frank Farrington as Frosch, a tinker, and John E. Hazard as the jail warden. These two have a scene in the last act that is one of the features of the show. The rest of the cast was competent; the chorus was good, both from a vocal and a terpsichorean standpoint. The show should be well patronized by McGill students.

SPEAKER NEWCOMBE EXPLAINS CONDUCT AT LAST SESSION

Previous Report More Effective Than Honest—House Neglects Opportunity

To the Editor,

McGill Daily,
Dear Sir:—As several accounts of the proceedings of the last session of the McGill Parliament have been published in a manner more effective than honest, I would ask you to do this organization the favour of publishing the enclosed statement in your columns.

Also I would like to take this opportunity to extend to the Sergeant-at-Arms (Mr. Forman) my sincerest thanks for the thorough mastery way in which he has carried out his duties since the opening of the House under circumstances of a particularly difficult nature, and to his efforts should be attributed a large part of any success achieved by the Parliament at McGill.

Very sincerely yours,
R. F. NEWCOMBE,
Speaker.

Montreal, Jan. 20, 1912.

The last meeting of the McGill Parliament was held in the Assembly Hall of the McGill Union on the evening of Friday, the 19th.

The members met to discuss the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

A large number of speeches were made and at about eleven o'clock it was moved and seconded "that the House do now adjourn." Whereupon the leader of the Opposition, after a few words of protest announced to his followers that they should defeat this motion and further that in so doing they should consider its defeat as implying a vote of lack of confidence in the Government.

In reply to this announcement the Speaker explained for the benefit of those who were ignorant of the consequences of the vote, that the defeat of the motion to adjourn would necessitate the transaction of further business before the House could rise, and further he could not put this question before the House, as a motion implying lack of confidence in the Government unless the Prime Minister should expressly announce that such was his intention.

After some discussion had taken place the Speaker arose and asked that there should be a division upon "if it was the motion of this House that there should be a division upon the motion to adjourn, and if it so desired that it should signify in the usual manner by saying, Aye!" To this there was no response.

At once a member on the Opposition front bench asked if he was permitted to challenge the ruling of the Speaker that motion to adjourn was in order. In reply the Speaker stated that Rule 39 Sec. 1, "A motion to adjourn (—) shall always be in order," and further—that this rule was one laid down for the regular conduct of the House, and in consequence was not susceptible to challenge, as would be the ruling of the Speaker on some controversial point.

A short discussion accompanied by a good deal of disturbance ensued, and in the midst thereof came the returns from the hockey match at Toronto. This was a signal for a large exodus from, and much confusion on the floor of the House.

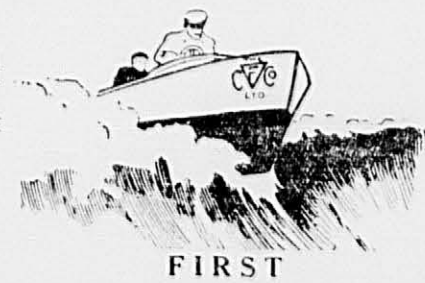

Therefore, seeing that he had given the House an opportunity, of which they had not taken advantage, to divide upon the motion to adjourn, and seeing that the state of the House precluded the possibility of a satisfactory continuation of the business, the Speaker instructed the Sergeant-at-Arms to clear the Hall and it was forthwith carried out.

LIBERAL EXECUTIVE THANKS PARTY WHIPS FOR EFFICIENT WORK

Committee Chosen to Confer with Conservatives—Full List of Whips—Now in Power

The Liberal party executive met on Monday evening, to discuss the situation in regard to the Mock Parliament. A Committee was appointed, consisting of Mr. French, Mr. Arthur Warburton and Mr. Hugessen, to confer with a similar Committee appointed by the Conservatives, and to arrange some compromise on the questions which have arisen out of the meeting of the Parliament on Friday night.

The Executive wishes to extend a unanimous vote of thanks to the party whips for the excellent work they have done, both in getting men's names on the Liberal lists and bringing them up to the meetings. In this connection it should be noted that at last Friday's session the number of Liberal members exceeded by at least 50 the number at even the most important meetings of last year. It is entirely owing to the large preponderance of Liberal members on Friday night that the Conservatives have resigned office, and all the credit for this is due to the whips, whose hard work, energy and organization were the admiration of even their opponents.

Following is a list of the Liberal Whips:

Law—1st Year—Mr. Levinson.
Arts—1st Year—Mr. J. Arthur Mathewson and Mr. Bertram French.
3rd Year—Mr. Henry Morgan, Mr. Guy Fisher and Mr. John Heaton.

2nd Year—Mr. Harold Griffith, Mr. Hugh Griffith and Mr. Bates.

1st Year—Mr. Alan Oliver, Mr. M. Sutherland and Mr. Gilmor.

MEDICINE

5th Year—Mr. Tom Sutherland.
4th Year—Mr. W. A. Hutton.
3rd Year—Mr. H. B. McEwen.
1st Year—Mr. Eric Warburton.

SCIENCE

4th Year—Mr. J. A. Warburton.
3rd Year—Mr. Price.
2nd Year—Mr. Gilbert and Mr. Keeping.

1st Year—

A stadium, which will seat 100,000 people, is a feature of the new plans for the development of the lake front at Chicago. A movement to bring the 20th Olympic games to Chicago has been started as a result.

A number of Yale graduates have started a movement to raise the funds necessary to erect a memorial to the late President, Noah Porter. The amount of money needed will be at least $15,000, and contributions will be received not only from Yale alumni but also from friends of Dr. Porter.

Freshmen at Princeton will be allowed to take skating in place of regular gym work this winter. Skating will be given whenever there is good ice and students will be given credit for attending by the instructors in charge. No men unable to swim will be allowed to take part in this class.

MANY NOVELTIES WILL BE FEATURE OF SCIENCE DINNER

Tea and Long Speeches Ta-boored—Dinner Committee Issues Statement

The third annual dinner of the Faculty of Applied Science is announced for Monday, February 12, at 8 p. m., at the Queen's Hotel. This dinner gives promise of being even more interesting and successful than its predecessors.

The Committee in charge, has already been working for some time on the details. Many new features will be introduced. The number of speakers will be considerably lessened and in their stead will be a few short addresses on subjects of interest, by men high in the engineering profession. Further the Champion Song Writer of the Rooters' Club is working overtime on some masterpieces in the musical line. Lastly, and perhaps not least, the price of the ticket is only $2.50.

This is the one event where science undergraduate and graduate are united as a faculty and can show any distinct faculty spirit. The previous dinners have been successful in every respect, except that the attendance while good was not everything that was to be expected. The students of the School of Practical Science at Toronto University number seven hundred and fifty and on the occasion of their annual dinner a full attendance of undergraduates and graduates is found, numbering between eight and nine hundred. Surely McGill ought to do proportionately well. Each man should avail himself of this one and only opportunity of showing that the Faculty of Applied Science leads in this as it does in all other departments of College life.

The Science men are not asked to go to any pin tea room. It has been and over will be the firm opinion of the students, their executive and their faculty, that they are human beings and should be treated as human beings and not after the manner of a Sunday School party.

BOXING & WRESTLING CLUBS WILL HOLD ANNUAL MEET AT GYMNASIUM ON FEB. 7TH

The McGill pugilists and wrestlers have announced their programme for the season. The final schedule is officially announced as follows:

Annual Club Meet February 7th, at 7.30—Admission 25c.

On the following week a joint meet with the M.A.A.A. will be held. Those who remember the great last year will not miss an opportunity of seeing another thrilling and high class exhibition. With more material McGill should repeat her win of last session.

The Intercollegiate Boxing and Wrestling Tournament will take place in Toronto on February 24th. The McGill men are not saying much at we rather that our representatives can be counted on to spring a number of pleasant surprises. Watch the progress of the Boxing and Wrestling Clubs!

DISABLED UNDERGRADUATES REPORT IMPROVEMENT

We are pleased to state that Mr. Wm. Cox of Science '14 is able to be around. Mr. Cox has had a long siege of illness as a result of a fractured leg. It will only be a short time, however, before he can discard his crutches. We welcome him back to the Union where his genial face has been missed for over two months. Mr. Knowles of Sci '15 recently underwent a successful operation for appendicitis and is now well on his way to normal health. His wonderful recuperative powers are being commented upon by the physicians in charge. We hope Mr. Knowles will soon be with us again.

Mr. H. A. MacNaughton, Arts '14, is also recovering his wonted strength. He should be able to resume lectures in a few weeks. Mr. MacNaughton was very fortunate in being able to finally ward off the attack of typhoid which threatened him.

POPULAR COLLEGE SHOW IN MONTREAL NEXT WEEK

Julian Eltinge a Marvellous Actor with Meteoric Career—
Only Five Years Since his Graduation from Boston Tech.

The show which comes to His Majesty's next week will be of great interest to McGill men. "The Fascinating Widow" is the successor to "Brown of Harvard" and the "College Widow." It is a college show with a real college atmosphere. Julian Eltinge who plays the leading role ranks among the first three individual star attractions on the American stage to-day. As a female impersonator he is world renowned, as an emotional actor he is peculiarly effective.

Special arrangements are being made in order that McGill men may secure $1.50 orchestra seats for $1.00 on the opening night. This is only on condition that Hali-Porter Cuiyer receives a sufficient number of applications before Wednesday night.

Julian Eltinge, the star of "The Fascinating Widow," which comes to His Majesty's next week, knows more about women's foibles than any other man in the world. There isn't a single trick in the category of feminine artifice that he doesn't understand and practice—for his work is the imitation of women.

Eltinge is the only successful impersonator of the gentler sex on the stage to-day. He can make himself up into the most bewitching girls imaginable. He will covert as a sprightly subrette one minute, and appear as the stately Marie Antoinette the next, and the illusion in each case will be faultlessly complete.

Eltinge was a member of the Boston Cadets back in his college days and appeared in the leading feminine role in their annual play. He made such a tremendous hit as the heroine that Lillian Russell, who saw him in one of the amateur performances, advised him to adopt the professional stage.

To win a bet he dressed as a girl and got a position in the chorus from a well-known manager, who believed him a girl until he was asked to sing, and exhibited a perfectly good baritone voice.

Eltinge says that one of the biggest mistakes women make is that they pay too much attention to their corsets. "Most women think that they have to pay, at least, four or five dollars for their stays," he says. "I pay just two dollars and a half for mine, and they hold me in, and I am a man with a man's physique." "Another fallacy with women," tells Eltinge, "is the amount of paint and powder they use. A little powder is all right to take the shine off, but paint is always recognizable, especially by daylight. It is ridiculous for women to think that anyone is fooled by it. Another mistake women make is that they wear shoes too small for them. They fail to realize that if they wore shoes that were bigger, their feet would look smaller and be less conspicuous than they do when cramped into sizes that are really too small for them."

Methodist students at Illinois are agitating a plan to build a dormitory for Methodists in that institution.

It has been decided that all men who have represented Purdue in athletics for two years shall be given gold medals upon graduation.

Only three DePauw freshmen were able to pass an examination prepared for eighth grade pupils by the National Education association.

Brown is constructing a new gymnasium.

Michigan is carrying on a chess match by mail with the University of Chicago. One move is made each day.

Yale leads Eastern colleges in registration of Westerners.

Plans are nearing completion for the dual track meet between Missouri and Minnesota which is scheduled to be held in the spring.
